Towns seek applicants for MI-Connection Board of Directors

DAVIDSON, N.C. – The towns of Davidson and Mooresville are currently seeking qualified applicants to serve on the MI-Connection Board of Directors.

Both towns recently revised their interlocal agreement, which expands the number of board members from six to nine; two of those members will be the standing town managers of each town. All current Davidson and Mooresville designees will also be transitioned to serve instead in at-large positions that will represent both towns. All interlocal changes will become effective April 1; as a result, several new board vacancies created by the revisions will need to be filled.

Officials are seeking applicants who are both interested in MI-Connection's operations and who would like to assist the system progress toward profitability. Serving on the board requires attending 90-minute monthly board meetings, serving on board committees and attending no more than two special events per year. New members will be seated at the April 28 meeting.

Interested applicants can apply via PDF printable applications, online applications, or paper applications. The URLs for the online application, PDF application and a board member job description are listed below; paper applications are available both at Mooresville Town Hall and Davidson Town Hall. All applications are due to Mooresville Town Hall, Davidson Town Hall or via online submission by Monday, March 21 at 9 a.m.
